The Love, Evan project

SPRING 2024 | VOLUME 4, ISSUE 1

It's been a while since our last newsletter, but we have not been idle! Here's what's been going on at Love,Evan!

One of our amazing volunteers, Claudia (more about her on page 2!), is now leading our food delivery and volunteer programs. She is in charge of all things "food" and has secured our partnerships with EveryTable, Foodcycle and Trader Joe's, to name just a few!

With their partnerships, our awesome volunteers are now able to expand our food delivery program to cancer families and seniors.

In 2023, we started partnering with Olive View Hospital, bringing them hats, blankets and care packages with samples of cancer products.

This January, we also began partnering with the Northridge Hospital Foundation to bring their cancer patients our "Hugs in a Bag" and gift cards for gas, groceries, or a special treat.

Most importantly, with each delivery we make, we are able to make a personal connection with people in need. To hear their stories. To tell them that they matter. To share with them the reason for our HOPE.

Meet Claudia!

Claudia's first introduction to Love,Evan was when her cousin was diagnosed with a rare form of cancer. Claudia shares, "...it was truly the most terrifying time in our lives. The uncertainty of her health and future was terrifying to think of...Through God's guidance, Love-Evan came alongside us and helped us selflessly with gifts that brought joy in a very dark period of my family's life."

From being a recipient of Love,Evan's outreach, Claudia is now coordinating our food delivery and volunteer programs. Through her tireless efforts, we now have partnerships with several food sources, as well as donations for our gift bag items. Our vision of providing healthy food to our Love,Evan family is now being realized!

"What Love-Evan is doing for people's Spirit during the hardest time in their life is truly life-changing. The generosity of our donors, along with the small acts of kindness from Love-Evan can prove to be God's shining light amidst the darkness of one's struggles. I want to ask anyone who can pour out all your donations & resources to Love-Evan...For [Love-Evan], every patient is the same and equally important whether they're strangers or lifelong friends. Everyone will receive generously during their trying time. Every cent donated is spent on patients [and those supporting them]. No one is on staff. We are all volunteers...It is truly an honor to serve in this organization. Evan's legacy will continue for a very long time with people with a big heart seeking to love others as Jesus calls us to."

"In the same way, let your light shine before others, so that they may see your good works and give glory to your father who is in heaven" Matthew 5:16 ESV
